Join Amber Stilwell from Penn State Extension to hear about the Master Watershed Steward Program in Erie, Crawford, and Warren Counties. The newly launched program provides extensive training in watershed management to volunteers who, in turn, help strengthen local capacity for protection of watersheds, streams, and rivers by educating and empowering communities. The next training begins in March of 2023. Join us to learn more about the projects the MWS program is working on, and find out how you can join the team!
